

Greek
Myrtle Wreath
c. 330–250 B.C.
Gold
10 ¾ x 12 inches
The Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, gift of Miss Annette Finnigan

Myrtle Wreath

This wreath, with its golden leaves,
Represents what Grecian culture believes.

Taken with them when they die,
On this wreath they would rely

To show their accomplishments,
And symbolize their achievements.

If you had a wreath to wear,
What message would it bear?